

Founded in 1947,

AUBER is the professional association of business and economic research centers in public and private universities.

THE CONNECTIONS I WAS ABLE TO MAKE,
the advice I received, and the role models I found are all invaluable. People went out of their way to make me feel welcome; and I quickly found out that it was okay to be less than knowledgeable about a topic because others were glad to answer my questions.

JIM KURRE, Director
Economic Research Institute of Erie
Penn State-Erie

*Leaders in regionally focused applied research
in business, economics,
and public policy*

ASSOCIATION FOR UNIVERSITY BUSINESS
AND ECONOMIC RESEARCH

For more information, membership applications and a current fee schedule, visit our website at:

www.auber.org

Information may also be obtained from the AUBER secretary/treasurer's office at the University of Colorado at Boulder, 303-492-3196, or e-mail Cindy.DiPersio@Colorado.edu

ASSOCIATION FOR UNIVERSITY BUSINESS
AND ECONOMIC RESEARCH

The Association for University Business and Economic Research

Advances research in business, economics, and public policy;

Promotes the collection, analysis, and dissemination of business, economic, and public policy information, with emphasis on regional issues;

Facilitates continuous improvement in the management, research, and services of AUBER members; and Demonstrates the importance of the economic development, outreach, and research roles of AUBER members, and increases the visibility of member units to their colleges, universities, and other constituencies.

Of all my professional affiliations, AUBER is by far the most important.

SEAN SNAITH, Director
Business Forecasting Center, University of the Pacific

BENEFITS TO YOU

Keep current with the latest in research methods and application, and develop additional professional skills through attendance at AUBER meetings.

Share research results and collaborate with other members.

Expand awareness of research opportunities and funding sources.

BECOME A MEMBER

Any organization devoted to economic, business, and/or related policy research is welcome to apply for membership.

Individuals who share common interests but are not affiliated with a research group also are encouraged to apply.

Meet with representatives of government agencies that fund research and provide the data that we use.

Learn how others market their research to various constituencies and how to increase your visibility.

Enjoy membership benefits of affiliate organizations such as NABE.

OUR VISION: to be internationally recognized by the public and private sectors as the premiere professional organization dedicated to continually improving the quality, effectiveness, and application of research in business, economics, and public policy.

THE CENTER FOR BUSINESS AND ECONOMIC RESEARCH (CBER) has significantly improved the visibility of the Sam M. Walton College of Business. Most importantly, CBER funded research, media relations, and support for state and local economic development initiatives have generated substantial value for our stakeholders. It is not too much to say that our AUBER member, CBER, is the face of the Walton College to the vast majority of our external constituents.

DOYLE Z. WILLIAMS, Dean
Sam M. Walton College of Business
University of Arkansas
Former Chair, AACSB International